

Abel

Tasman – Most Visited National Park

NZ's smallest national park is big when it comes to visitor numbers! Due to its golden beaches, lush forests and world-famous Abel Tasman Coast Track, it's NZ's most visited national park.

EGMONT NATIONAL PARK

The Mount Taranaki summit is a challenging climb, but there are numerous walks around the mountain's base.

ABEL TASMAN NATIONAL PARK

Renowned for golden beaches, clear water and the very popular Abel Tasman Coast Track.

KAHURANGI NATIONAL PARK

Immense and rugged, encompassing wild rivers, sub-alpine herb fields and coastal forests.

PAPAROA NATIONAL PARK

Lush rainforest, underground cave networks and the famous Punakaiki Pancake Rocks.

MOUNT ASPIRING NATIONAL PARK

This stunningly beautiful landscape is home to rugged mountains, river valleys and green beech forests.

FIORDLAND NATIONAL PARK

New Zealand's most famous national park features immense fiords, deep lakes, mountains and forest.

TONGARIRO NATIONAL PARK

New Zealand's first national park is home to the Tongariro Alpine Crossing, a highly regarded one-day walk.

TE UREWERA NATIONAL PARK

Remote and rugged forested ridges and valleys, home to the popular Lake Waikaremoana Track.

WHANGANUI NATIONAL PARK

Travel by canoe on the Whanganui Journey or discover Maori culture in a lush rainforest setting.

NELSON LAKES NATIONAL PARK

The northern end of the Southern Alps features forest-clad mountains and numerous picturesque lakes.

ARTHUR'S PASS NATIONAL PARK

Rugged gorges, wide braided rivers, soaring mountains and forest in the heart of the Southern Alps.

WESTLAND TAI POUTINI NATIONAL PARK

Renowned for its incredibly varied landscape of forests, glaciers, wild beaches and wetlands.

AORAKI/MOUNT COOK NATIONAL PARK

Home to New Zealand's tallest mountain peaks, including Aoraki Mount Cook, and its largest glaciers.

RAKIURA NATIONAL PARK

Covering 85% of Stewart Island and protecting rare wildlife, unspoiled forest and coastal landscapes.